Healthcare transformation is calling quality professionals to lead the changes required to meet expectations for value and to unite diversified health systems around industry-standard quality competencies. That’s why 14,000 healthcare quality professionals turn to the National Association of Healthcare Quality (NAHQ) every day for educational resources to improve their systems’ performance – and you can trust us to connect you to them.

Our annual conference, NAHQ NEXT, is the best opportunity for you to connect with these professionals, the healthcare quality influencers and decision makers who are actively seeking solutions to improve their organizations’ patient and strategic outcomes. Responsibilities are increasing for healthcare quality professionals and they rely on NAHQ and NAHQ NEXT to gain the skills, the resources and the edge to advance their careers and lead best-in-class quality programs in their organizations. NEXT is the only conference for healthcare quality professionals, offering them the most comprehensive and customized opportunities for career advancement, learning and peer networking.

Our dynamic, interactive format allows you open access to our participants, industry leaders and conference content. At NEXT, you’ll strengthen your efforts to connect with today’s top healthcare quality professionals and build relationships with the leaders of tomorrow.

WE BRING THE ATTENDEES TO YOU!

• Interact with industry partners like you who have the tools they need
• Forge connections with other leaders in healthcare quality
